

politics and consensus in pdf

The complex politics of global warming results from numerous cofactors arising from the global economy's interdependence on carbon dioxide (CO₂) emitting hydrocarbon energy sources and because CO₂ is directly implicated in global warming – making global warming a non-traditional environmental challenge.

Politics of global warming - Wikipedia

Politics (from Greek: ἡ πολιτική, translit. Politikḗ, meaning "affairs of the cities") is the process of making decisions that apply to members of a group. It refers to achieving and exercising positions of governance – organized control over a human community, particularly a state. The academic study focusing on just politics, which is therefore more targeted than all Political science ...

The political system of Denmark is that of a multi-party structure, where several parties can be represented in Parliament at any one time. Danish governments are often characterised by minority administrations, aided with the help of one or more supporting parties. This means that Danish politics is based on consensus politics. Since 1909, no single party has had the majority in Parliament.
